Mob Drags Woman From Her Home, Whips Her, Cuts Off Her Hair

"Not So Bad!"

HOUSTON, TEXAS, January 13.—(By the Associated Press)—Aided by seven-year-old Bonnie Lee Harrison, said to have seen a mob of fifteen or more disguised men drag her mother from home, cut off her long hair and whip her, authorities expected today to come out in the open with their investigation.

The whipping was administered to Mrs. R. H. Harrison, 30, a widow, the night of January 8, she admitted to officers, but had been kept secret until Friday when rumors were circulated. R. A. Armand, 28, of Middletown, Texas, also was taken out by the disguised mob.

The child was the first to see the mob members, one of whom knocked on the door of the Harrison home at Goose Creek about nine p. m. She told her mother that the caller was dressed "all in white."

Jilted Lover Enters Restaurant And Slays Actress Sweetheart

NEW YORK, January 13.—(By the Associated Press)—Harold Van Alstein, member of the vaudeville team of Van and Emerson, who last night shot and killed Miss Marion McLaren, of the musical troupe "The Five MacLarens," wounded her brother Hugh, and then shot himself, told police today he killed the girl because she had broken their engagement to be married, and refused even to talk with him.

Van Alstein is under arrest in Bellevue Hospital on a homicide charge. His self-inflicted wound, is not serious, physicians say. Hugh McLaren, brother of the dead musician, also was hurt only slightly, and left the hospital.

"I am not sorry I shot her," Van Alstein told police. "I loved her and she drove me insane by her refusal even to talk to me. The only thing I regret is that I didn't kill myself. Please don't tell my dear old mother her boy is a murderer."

Miss McLaren, dining in an Eighth avenue restaurant with her brother, his wife and her two sisters, after the evening performance at a vaudeville theatre, where they had played since Thursday, arose when Van Alstein entered the crowded cafe. Threading his way past crowded tables, he walked to her table and began shooting. The first shot went wild. The second went true and Miss McLaren fell dead. A third hit Hugh McLaren in the shoulder as he attempted to reach Van Alstein, who turned the revolver on himself.

PASSENGER TRAIN HITS FREIGHT; ONE KILLED

TOLEDO, O., January 13.—(By the Associated Press)—One man was killed and several injured, when a passenger train running on the Pere Marquette tracks crashed into the rear of a freight train, one mile north of the Ohio-Michigan state line at 10 a. m. Saturday.

A curve in the road prevented the engineer of the passenger train from seeing the freight which had been stopped to wait for the freight crew's relief. Members of the freight crew were asleep in the caboose when the crash came.

The passenger train, traveling fifty miles an hour, tore through the caboose and three freight cars, throwing the sleeping trainmen in every direction.

Charles Fredericks, a member of the freight crew, was killed. Those injured and taken to hospitals here were:

Mrs. Amelia Marr, 31, Highland Park, Michigan, a passenger.

Walter Elliott, freight conductor, Saginaw, Michigan.

Charles Brown, Saginaw, Michigan.

An unidentified engineer is unconscious at St. Vincent's Hospital.

Elliott also is unconscious and Brown is not expected to live. Mrs. Marr's condition is not considered serious.

Man-In-The-Moon And Venus Play Tag

CHICAGO, January 13.—(By the Associated Press)—The man in the moon early today played tag with Venus and for nearly 45 minutes that bright star was invisible to observers here.

At 5:30 o'clock Venus seemed to be hanging by a thread to the eastern tip of the moon. A few minutes later it was entirely hidden. At 6:15 o'clock Venus re-appeared on the dark side of the moon, seemingly in added lustre.

The juxtaposition of the two bodies, as Venus soared above the moon after the occultation resembled the Turkish crescent and star.

While this phenomenon was said by observers at Yerkes Observatory at Lake Geneva was to be unusual, it rarely occurs that the paths of the moon and Venus cross in such a manner as to cause a darkening of Venus.

Within the course of a month, the observers said, 15 or 20 stars will be overrun by the moon, although this is not always visible at night.

French Flag Is Torn Down And Destroyed

PARIS, January 13.—(By the United Press)—French troops may occupy Bochum today or tomorrow as a punitive measure for Germany's refusal to make required coal deliveries. It was learned today. General Goutet commanding the army of occupation in the Ruhr said yesterday the French army would not advance farther than Essen if Germany did not take provocative steps. Premier Poincare, General Maginot and Le Troquer reported to the cabinet that results of the occupation of Essen were satisfactory as were the conversations with the industrial representatives of the Ruhr. It was understood however, that as a result of the latter and of the German government's notes regarding Germany's inability to deliver more coal at the zone of occupation will be extended to include Bochum.

BERLIN, January 13.—(By the Associated Press)—At Steele, two miles outside of Essen, the French flag hoisted by the occupying troops was torn down and destroyed, says a dispatch to Vorwarts today.

The burgomaster had to apologize to the French commander and publish an appeal warning the population against excesses.

POSTPONE PAYMENT BY GERMANY

PARIS, January 13.—(By the Associated Press)—The reparations commission this morning postponed until January 31 the payment of 500,000,000 marks due from Germany next Monday.

France, Italy and Belgium, voted for the delay. Sir John Bradbury, the British member, did not cast a ballot.

There was no discussion of this brief moratorium on its merits. The French requested postponement of the payment in order that they might finish preparation of their new moratorium plan.

Belgian W. Boyden, the American observer, was present at the meeting which lasted a half hour. Steps were taken to notify the German government of the delay.

In reparations circles it was intimated that France was hoping that the moratorium would permit the Ruhr situation to take definite shape making evident the extent of the "passive resistance" policy which the Wilhelmstrasse seems to have planned.

There was a report that France might endeavor to arrange a meeting with Germany to discuss a settlement of the reparations question, in view of the fact that the French are now in the Ruhr. Great Britain, Italy, Belgium and possibly the United States were mentioned as the nations that might be asked to attend such a conference.

In the event that a plan for direct discussion failed, it was suggested that a two year moratorium, with certain conditions would be granted Germany by the reparations commission in the near future.

These conditions, according to a forecast of what France is ready to grant would include not only the maintenance of the economic commission already in the Ruhr, but the occupation of that entire region in the event Germany did not immediately accept the moratorium provisions. The German government would also agree to float internal loans of gold and paper marks, to balance the budget and to permit a committee of guaranties to assume control of German internal finance. This committee would function in much the same manner as was set forth by branch at the recent Premier's conference.

Germany Plans Sunday Of Mourning

ESSEN, January 13.—(By the Associated Press)—While Germany generally was preparing for the observance of tomorrow as the "Sunday of mourning" over the occupation of the Ruhr, the actual estimate of the French and Belgian garrisons continued to be extended and the occupying authorities at Essen and Dusseldorf were making further efforts toward direct negotiations with the big industrialists and mine operators.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Eat, Sleep and Feel Better Every Day

Chicago, Ill. — "I was weak and run-down and in such a nervous condition that I could hardly do my work. I was tired all the time, and dizzy, and could not sleep and had no appetite. I tried different medicines for years, but they did not help me. Then I read in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for other women and gave it a trial. I began to eat better and could sleep, and consider it a wonderful medicine. I recommend it to my friends and will never be without it." — Mrs. M. O'LEEN, 8640 S. Marshfield Ave., Chicago, Ill.

It is such letters as these that testify to the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This woman speaks from the fullness of her heart. She describes as correctly as she can her condition, first the symptoms that bothered her the most, and later the disappearance of those symptoms. It is a sincere expression of gratitude.

For nearly fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been so praised by women.

Lucasville Corn Show

One of the big events in the county next week is the Lucasville Corn Show on Friday and Saturday, January 19th and 20th. The judging of corn and potatoes will be on the morning of the 19th. The educational program starts at 1 p. m. on the same day when W. E. Hanger, specialist in farm crops at Ohio State University and Secretary of the Ohio Seed Improvement Association, will have for his subject "What constitutes good seed corn." His discussion will include reference to scores made by the corn on exhibit at this show.

To those who have not received a premium list, it will be of interest to know that both the ten-cent entry and the one bushel special class will be judged on the basis of seed condition, size and suitability to locality, and uniformity.

The purpose of this basis of judging is not merely to find out who can select the best appearing ears of corn or the best appearing bushel, but try to determine what really constitutes good seed corn and how it should be selected.

Following Mr. Hanger's discussion several local men, whose names will be announced later, will continue the discussion from the farmer's standpoint.

At 2:30 N. W. Glines, specialist in Vegetable Gardening, Ohio State University, will discuss potato production, from the standpoint of varieties adaptable to this locality, seed selection, etc.

Following his talk, Fred Dill of Lick Run will discuss potato fertilization. Charles Zaler will discuss the spraying of potatoes, and Joseph R. Turner of the Mead's community will discuss seed selection.

On Saturday morning at 9:30 R. B. Wilcox, plant pathologist of the United States Department of Agriculture, will discuss Raspberry diseases. Mr. Wilcox has been in the vicinity of Cleveland for the past three years making a special study along this line. He visited raspberry fields near Lucasville the past summer, and that is why he has been asked to return at this time to give a detailed report of his findings. Following his address A. B. Stambaugh will give a short talk on pruning and training raspberries.

At 10:45 a demonstration lecture on identification of the different varieties of soy beans will be given by W. E. Hanger, followed by discussions on growing soy beans for hay, for silage and for corn for hogging down, by local men whose names will be announced later.

On Saturday afternoon a demonstration lecture on identification of the various clover seeds, and some common adulterants will be given by Mr. Hanger.

Farmers' Week is an education and a vacation all in one, a full week of lectures on every phase of farm and home life. Not less than fifteen State agricultural organizations will hold their annual meetings during the week. In this list are included the State Farm Bureau Federation, the State Horticultural Society, the Vegetable Growers' Association, One Hundred Bushel Corn Club, the Seed Improvement Association, the State Sheep Men, Bee Keepers, Rural Life Association and practically every breed association in Ohio.

The State Grange will take an active part in the program of Farmers' Week this year. State Master Harry A. Caton, will have headquarters at the University, where he can meet and confer with Grange and other rural workers during the week. On January 31st and February 1st and 2nd, at 8 a. m., a Grange lecturers' "School of Methods" will be held. These sessions will last two hours each day. The program for this part of the work has been arranged by State Lecturer, G. R. Lewis, and Professor C. E. Lively of the Rural Economics Department of the University.

Instructors for the school are, L. J. Taber, Harry A. Caton, Prof. C. E. Lively, Mrs. W. G. Vanderbark and Avery G. Clinger.

State Lecturer, G. R. Lewis, will speak at the Rural Life Conference on the "Grange as a Community Builder."

Some representatives of the National Grange, probably C. M. Gardner of Springfield, Massachusetts, will be on the general program of the week.

"WITHIN THE LAW" COMING MONDAY

No play has aroused more talk and expectancy than has "Within The Law," which is announced as the production for three days at the Sun, starting Monday night. It is to be a theatrical event in Portsmouth that will be long remembered. Not only that Portsmouth theater-goers are to witness what the management promises to be the best play ever seen on a local stage, but for the fact that two members of the original road company are to appear with the production in roles they played for the solid year. Miss Florence Lewin, leading lady of the Jack Ball Street Company, and Manager Frank Hawkins were featured with the road attraction of this famous play and will act the same roles which won for them a reputation on the road as two of the outstanding lights of this particular success. With perfect knowledge of the play's quality and every little detail, the piece is assured an extraordinary production under the personal direction of Mr. Hawkins. Seats are now selling for all night performances and indications are that the Sun will have another record broken for the first three days of next week.

ABE MARTIN

On Topics o' th' Day

Jake Bentley Takes No Chances

"I went down town to do a little shopping, but I didn't see a chance to cross the street, so I went back home," complained Mrs. Em Moore today. We don't know what's going to become of people who, through force of circumstances, are compelled to walk all the time, or at least occasionally. Locomotive engineers have to serve an apprenticeship before they are allowed to run an engine, and ever so often they have to have their eyes examined. They're retired when they get shaky. They run their trains on their own right of way and the tracks are crossed in the safe guard by fences and gates and bells and flags and red lights, and the streets, which are owned by the people, are crowded with cars, any one of which is high powered enough to snap off an iron lamp post. Only about one person out of ten used to have sense enough to drive a horse and we expect about the same per cent would hold good as regards the auto. Folks that used to drive leisurely about in a phaeton remarkin' about the buildin' an' the scenery now go to Shelbyville in thirty minutes, unless they have a car, stop for gas, or light a cigar. Jake Bentley has been scared clean off his pikes an' walks to town on the railroad. It isn't safe to get shaved in a corner barber shop, at least in the first chair. Ever' burglar an' break jail there's a seven-passenger car waitin' for 'em, an' if only two are goin' to make a break for liberty there's a runabout ready an' waitin'. But they don't drive any faster than the feller that's goin' home an hour too soon. There's a certain little nervous car that seems to only have two speeds—standin' still an' thirty miles an hour. If we manage to get across the street we're so excited over it that we forget what we come across for. Joe Lark's brother sold his home 'cause a paved street passed his door. If a feller tries to drive at a respectable rate o' speed he's footed at an' side swiped an' finally driven in the curb. We kin watch out for a train an' we kin watch out for a street car waitin' for 'em, but there's gittin' to be no way to avoid an automobile 'cept to be in one or stay at home. A horse needn't have too much decency to run in a car would hit us maliciously. It's a human being, an' we don't believe in the blamed fool driver. But the question is, where's the overhasty goin' to such breakneck speed? How'd they used to get where they goin'? What justification is there for so much speed those dull times when we kin drop in a picture theatre at any hour, or go home when we please? When it comes to public safety, what's the difference between a passenger train tearin' thro' the city streets an' a string of vicious autos? Nothin', 'cept we kin tell what a train o' cars is goin' to do.

Acute and Chronic Ailments

Until the discovery of Chiropractic there was no certain way of knowing what was the CAUSE of our many ailments, neither was it known how to get rid of them.

Whatever the nature of the malady you suffer with, it is due to pressure on nerves along the sides of the backbone. This pressure interferes with nerve function; hence, inflammation, pain, and distress are manifested in whatever part of organ is supplied by the nerves.

The cut shows a section of the Backbone and how the nerves become impinged and cause disease, such as Headaches, Eyes, Ear, Nose and Throat troubles, Tonallitis, Bronchitis, Heart and Lung Troubles, Rheumatism, Liver, Stomach, Gall Stones, Kidney trouble, Appendicitis, Constipation, Female trouble and others too numerous to mention.

LEROY JOHNSON IS LAID TO REST

Leroy Johnson, well known colored mail carrier, whose sudden death occurred Tuesday afternoon, was buried yesterday afternoon, funeral services being held in the Allen Chapel A. M. E. church, of which Mr. Johnson was a faithful member. The colored lodge of masons had a part in the services at the church and the mail carriers attended in a body. The floral tributes were numerous, two automobiles being required to convey them to the cemetery. Many people whose residences or places of business were along Mr. Johnson's mail route, joined with other friends in sending flowers. Rev. Norman W. Brown, pastor of the Allen Chapel Church, preached the funeral sermon, taking as his text, Job, 19:24-26. "That they were graven with an iron pen and lead in the rock forever. For I know that my Redeemer liveth, and that he shall stand at the latter day upon the earth: and though after my skin worms destroy this body, yet in flesh shall I see God." Interment was made in Greenlawn cemetery.

"I wouldn't take a fortune for the good Tanlac did me," declared George A. Bound, well known mine foreman, residing at 219 E. Shawnee Ave., Plymouth, Pa.

"I suffered for five years from stomach trouble, nervousness, awful headaches, sleeplessness, and constipation. I had practically no appetite, and even the little I did manage to eat upset my stomach so bad I was in misery. I was badly run-down and kept losing weight till I was simply in wretched condition.

"But after taking Tanlac a short time I was feeling like a new man. My appetite is ravenous now; I never have indigestion, sleep like a top and always feel ready for a big day's work.

"Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35 million bottles sold.—Advertisement.

Local Hi School Boys And Girls Teams Triumph Over Ashland And Ironton

It was an all P. H. S. occasion last night for the boys and girls five of the Red and Blue school won their games with Ashland and Ironton quintets. The boys triumphed over the Ashland boys in the Kentuckians gym by a score of 21 to 14, while the P. H. S. girls remained at home and took the Ironton battles into camp by a score of 22 to 5 the victory being one of the greatest ever recorded for the local team.

It had been announced that Ironton would demand girls' rules in the game but before the contest the captains and coaches got their heads together to use only five players with all players moving over the whole floor but with several rules of the game slightly modified. The result was a much faster game than would have been staged with six players in the game and each one having to stay in certain territory. The locals outshot the visitors and showed better pass work although the visitors at times showed real teamwork. The visiting forwards could not locate baskets after they had made one free throw. The P. H. S. team made the first point and that was the only point they scored in the first half. The locals ran up a score of 10 in that half.

In the second half while P. H. S. was making 12 more points the visitors managed to slip in four more points on two field baskets.

In Ashland the P. H. S. boys did not meet the stiff opposition they had anticipated. The Ashland five is not as strong this year as in the past. The first half ended 10 to 9 in favor of P. H. S. In the second half the locals used a five man defense that Ashland could not penetrate and while Ashland was making 5 points the locals came through with 21 the majority of them coming after the locals got the ball and worked it down the floor to within a few feet of the basket where Monk or one of his team-mates would take care of the shooting of the sphere through the hoop.

Monk and Phillips were the main point getters for P. H. S. these two lads making 21 points between them. Flowers had four field baskets and Captain Ellessor shot one field basket. Forward Machan scored 8 of Ashland's 14 points this lad making 6 free throws.

Dr. E. C. Jackson Heads School Board; Plan To Safeguard Pupils From Accidents

Election of new officers, the discussion of traffic regulations to safeguard the lives of school pupils and a property line dispute in connection with the new high school addition, formed the main business before the Board of Education when the first meeting of 1923 was held last night.

Dr. E. C. Jackson was elected president, Marvin C. Clark, vice-president and W. C. Hazelbeck, clerk. Mr. Hazelbeck has served as clerk for about twelve years. Dr. Jackson takes the place of Wm. B. Altman and Mr. Clark succeeds Dr. Jackson.

In order to have room for the new addition to the high school the Board months ago purchased a 44 foot strip north of the high school, which took in some property owned by Mrs. Addie Cranston and Mrs. Mary E. Scott. Several months ago Pearl Cranston built a new garage in the rear of his Eighth street home and just recently it was found, it is claimed, that it extended three feet onto School Board property. Mrs. Scott had a fence built on a line with the garage, and it is also three feet on the Board's property. Mr. Cranston has signified his intention of removing the garage or buying the three foot strip from the Board. Mrs. Scott, it is reported, claims the fence is on her own property and she says she does not intend to move it. The Board decided to have the county surveyor run the lines to determine the exact boundaries before further action is taken.

To Safeguard Pupils
Mention of the increasing number of automobiles in the city and numerous accidents, and especially the fatality several nights ago in which Mrs. Martha Weaver of New Boston was killed, caused members to spend some time on the discussion of plans for the safeguarding of the school pupils on their way to and from school. It was decided that all street crossings near the schools should be marked with white paint. It was also brought out that the rule followed in many of the larger cities could be adopted. That plan is to

Loosen Up That Cold With Musterole

Have Musterole handy when a cold starts. It has all the advantages of grandmother's mustard plaster WITH OUT the blister. You just apply it with the fingers. First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then comes a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Made of pure oil of mustard and other simple ingredients, Musterole is recommended by many nurses and doctors. Try Musterole for bronchitis, sore throat, stiff neck, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, croup, asthma, neuritis, congestion, pains and aches of the back or joints, sore muscles, sprains, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten feet, colds of the chest. It may prevent pneumonia and "flu." See and see jars and tubes.

THAT WAS SOME FIGHT

the boys gave up at the Winter Garden last week and the fans certainly had a run for their money. The decisions as rendered no doubt were just as the judges saw it but from where I sat I didn't agree with them. However it pleased the crowd, especially when Blair came thru and showed them stuff we didn't think he had. Take care of yourself Nig and you'll ride in that Rolls Royce yet. You delivered some nice wallops but they were nothing to the straight jab I have given some folks when it comes to real-honest-to-goodness men's calf skin shoes at seven berries—with real oak leather soles and rubber heels.

P. S.—One of the bunch yelled at me Friday night that I had better announce that there appeared to be a couple of candidates in the ring for the Red Men—judging from the flow of claret. Anything to satisfy—all right—let's go.

DR. HARRIS TO CONDUCT SERVICES

Cooking School Closes; One Of The Most Successful Ever Held By Demonstrators

The intense interest displayed by the attendees was the most outstanding feature of the Daily Times and Morning Sun's cooking school, which closed in the basement hall of the city hall last night. The school, which was held for two weeks, was a great success. It was held in the basement hall of the city hall, and was attended by a large number of women. The school was held for two weeks, and was a great success. It was held in the basement hall of the city hall, and was attended by a large number of women. The school was held for two weeks, and was a great success. It was held in the basement hall of the city hall, and was attended by a large number of women.

Yesterday the proper preparing and making of the dough was shown. Then the pans were put in the oven when it reached the required heat and when the baking was completed and Miss Margaret Welmer opened the oven door, the delicious brown popovers looked as if they would melt in your mouth.

"Definite heat in the oven" was a point stressed by Miss Welmer in her lecture on bread baking. She urged the use of an oven thermometer to save time, worry and waste of material. "Economy and the use of the best materials" was also urged by Miss Welmer who warned the women that they could not expect to obtain the best results by using substitutes for materials called for in a recipe.

"Dough must be kneaded properly but not too much. The trouble with many who have failed in bread baking is that they handle the dough too much," said Miss Welmer in her lecture.

Miss Edna Wahlquist and Miss Esther Hagan who have been assisting Miss Welmer in the demonstrations and lectures will remain in the city several weeks in the interest of the Washburn-Crosby Company through which firm the school was arranged.

There were many requests yesterday for a continuance of the school but as Miss Welmer is scheduled for schools elsewhere and is under contract she finds it impossible to lengthen her stay.

The recipes used, with several others highly recommended by Miss Welmer, follow:

Gold Medal Bread:

Measure 1 1/2 cups proper temperature water and pour into mixing bowl.

Add yeast cake (crumble it.)

Add 1 1/2 level teaspoons salt.

Add 2 level teaspoons sugar.

Mix.

Add about half of sifted flour (3/4 lb. or 3 cups.) Mix with spoon.

Add 1 1/2 level teaspoons shortening.

Add remainder of flour (1 1/2 lb. or 2 cups.) Mix thoroughly, keeping sides of bowl clean.

Turn dough onto moulding board. Grease sides of bowl, pat dough back into bowl, turning dough bottom side up with grease on top. Let it rise 2 hours in a warm place. Punch dough down in center, fold over from four sides to center. Turn over. Let stand one hour. Turn dough on board, divide into equal portions and then mould into loaves. Put into baking pans, set aside to rise. Bake in an oven 400 to 425 degrees F.

(Keep dough covered with towel while rising.)

Gold Medal Coffee Cake

1 quart milk.

2 cakes compressed yeast.

14 cups Gold Medal Flour.

6 tablespoons sugar.

3 teaspoons salt.

3 eggs.

1 1/4 cup melted shortening.

Heat milk, add sugar, salt and yeast. Mix well, add 1/2 of flour. Then add eggs and melted butter thoroughly. Add remainder of flour. Put in greased bowl, set aside and let rise 2 hours. Punch dough in center, fold over from sides to center, set aside 1 hour to rise. Turn onto moulding board and shape into cinnamon roll, current bun or coffee cake. Let rise and bake in moderate oven. Before baking prick with fork and spread on melted butter and sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon.

Doughnuts

2 eggs beaten light.

1 cup sugar.

1 cup milk.

2 tablespoons melted butter.

3 cups Gold Medal flour.

3 teaspoons baking powder.

1 teaspoon each of cinnamon and salt.

Have board well floured and take on it 1 large spoon of dough, kneading gently till firm enough to roll out and cut. Mix the trimmings with a fresh spoon and roll again, repeating until all are used. Cook in fat hot enough to make them rise instantly to the top.

Tarts

2 cups Gold Medal flour.

1 1/2 teaspoon salt.

2 1/2 cup lard or other shortening.

2 tablespoons butter.

Ice water.

Sift together flour and salt. Cut in the 2 1/2 cup shortening, moisture with enough water to make stiff dough. Toss on floured board, pat and roll out; dot with 1 tablespoon of butter. Fold so as to make three layers, turn half way round, pat and roll out. Repeat, using remaining tablespoon of butter. This paste is easier handled if allowed to stand on ice for several hours before using. This recipe will make twelve small tarts.

Lemon Fluff Filling

Beat 3 egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored, gradually add 1 1/2 cup sugar, thoroughly mix; add grated rind and juice of 1 lemon and 3 tablespoons hot water. Cook in top of double boiler to thin custard stage. Add 1 1/2 cup sugar gradually to beaten egg whites and fold into the custard. Fill pie crust previously baked, and brown in oven.

Biscuits

Use level measurements. Sift flour one time before measuring. The liquid should be added slowly. A soft dough patted out with the hands will give a fluffier biscuit than a stiffer dough rolled out. To cut in fat hold two knives together, so they resemble a pair of shears. Cut the fat into the flour by the crossing of the sharp edges.

2 cups Gold Medal flour.

4 teaspoons baking powder.
1 1/2 teaspoon salt.
3 tablespoons shortening.
3/4 cup milk.
Sift together flour, baking powder and salt, cut in the shortening, add liquid and pat out on floured board to about 1 inch in thickness. Cut with biscuit cutter. Bake in a hot oven 12 to 15 minutes.

Pie Crust

It is essential to have all materials and utensils cold, and to use ice water if you wish to have crisp flaky pie crust. Add the water very slowly, as too much water gives a tough crust. If the shortening is warm and too little water used, the crust will crumble. Handle the dough very lightly and as little as possible. Bake the pie in a very hot oven at first, lowering the temperature as soon as a slight coloring appears.

With these usual precautions you can get light, flaky pie crust.

Pie Crust—Plain

1 1/2 cups Gold Medal flour.

1 1/2 teaspoon salt.

1 teaspoon baking powder.

1 1/2 cup shortening.

Ice water.

Sift flour, salt and baking powder together. Cut in the shortening. Add enough ice water to make stiff dough. This amount will make one two-crust pie, or one one-crust pie.

Waffles

A light, crisp waffle is one of the most popular breakfast or luncheon dishes. To get a crisp waffle, the waffle iron must be very hot. It will take about 20 seconds (count 20 slowly) to brown the side next to the fire at first. Turn the iron and allow about the same time for browning of other side. If the waffle iron is well greased after the baking of each waffle, there will not be any trouble with sticking.

2 cups flour.

4 teaspoons baking powder.

1 1/4 teaspoon salt.

1 3/4 cups milk.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt, add milk to slightly beaten eggs. Mix well and add to dry ingredients. Add melted shortening and fold in stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Bake in well greased hot waffle iron.

Muffins

Sift flour one time before measuring and use level measurements. Do not fill the muffin pans too full, as they rise in the baking and will come over the edge of the pan.

2 cups Gold Medal flour.

2 tablespoons sugar.

3 teaspoons baking powder.

1 1/2 teaspoon salt.

1 1/4 cups milk.

2 tablespoons melted shortening.

2 eggs.

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Add milk to well beaten eggs, then shortening. Mix thoroughly with dry ingredients. Fill gem pans two-thirds full and bake in hot oven about 20 minutes.

Below are White cake and Angel Food recipes especially requested by the women who attended the classes:

The Gold Medal Cake

2 1/4 cups Gold Medal Flour

1 1/4 cups sugar

3/4 cup shortening

1 cup milk

Whites of five eggs

2 teaspoons baking powder

1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring

Cream sugar and shortening together. Add milk alternately with the flour, which has been sifted with the baking powder. Add flavoring and mix well. Fold in the well beaten whites of eggs. Put in well greased cake tin and bake from three to forty minutes in a slow oven. This recipe may be baked in two large layer tins or three small tins.

Angel Food

1 1/2 cups egg whites

1 teaspoon cream tartar

1 cup sugar

1 teaspoon salt

1 cup flour

Be sure eggs are fresh and cold. Beat until stiff, adding cream of tartar gradually while beating. Mix salt with flour. Slowly fold in sugar first and flour lastly. Sift flour and sugar four or five times before folding into beaten egg whites.

Chamber Of Commerce And Others Get Behind Effort To Apprehend The Driver Of Car That Killed Woman

A liberal reward is now offered for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the driver of the automobile that struck and killed Mrs. Martha Weaver, 46, of Rhodes avenue New Boston Wednesday night. The reward of $50 offered by the Morning Sun Friday was increased last night when a county official said that he would give $25 of his salary and ex-mayor J. S. Davis of New Boston said that he would give $25 towards the reward.

Today President Adam Fieck of the Chamber of Commerce on his return to the city from Columbus learned of the fatal accident and at once announced that the Chamber of Commerce would cooperate in increasing the reward.

Spire George Morgan of New Boston last night stated that he would impose a jail sentence of thirty days on any motorist who is convicted of speeding in his court.

The New Boston officers and other officials have so far been unable to find any trace of the driver of the machine who failed to stop after hitting the woman.

Mr. Fieck's letter says: Mr. Harry Taylor, Editor, The Times Publishing Company, Portsmouth, Ohio.

My Dear Mr. Taylor: Upon my return to the office this morning, having been out of the city attending legislative matters, the information comes to me that there has been a most unfortunate accident, resulting in the loss of life to New Boston, killing one Mrs. Martha Weaver. This is most distressing indeed, especially so when one knows the need of this splendid woman in caring for her children.

Personally, and in behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, we want to offer our assistance in endeavoring to apprehend or locate the guilty party, who is directly responsible for this unusual and inhuman act, who was not sensitive enough to check his speed, stop and assist in any way to the relief of this unfortunate person, leaving in doubt who committed this very inhuman act. The Chamber therefore, offers anything in reason that might be deemed necessary in bringing to justice the guilty party.

I shall be glad to have you make the announcement in the press that the public may know that we are interested in securing justice in this matter and that we may be called upon for any sum deemed reasonable and necessary.

Very truly yours,
ADAM FIECK,
President.

Here's the slipper, who, a year ago, reformers said, wore far too short a skirt, much too low a neck and no sleeves at all.

But, don't think it was the reformers who caused this change. It was to the decree of fashion that the fapper bowed.

The tailored work, with collar buttoning under the chin, is seen on many winter frocks for young women, and always it serves as an excuse for brilliant color contrasts.

The long sleeves—called peasant sleeves—are worn on all number of frocks and even on fur coats.

As for the skirts—the side panels are so long that they threaten to sweep the ground.

Held For Manslaughter

CINCINNATI—Pasquale Florini, 7, was run down and killed by a truck owned by the same man whose auto mobilized two years ago ran down and killed the kid's brother, Gaetano (Gag) Florini, driver of the truck, was charged with manslaughter.

Better Than Calomel

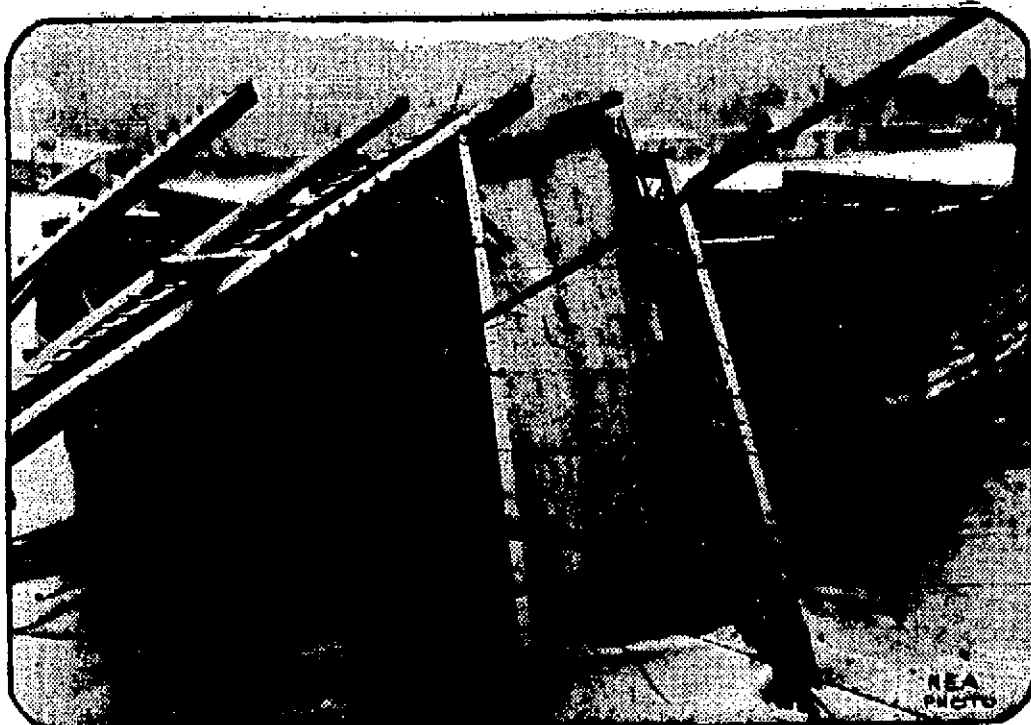

Thousands Have Discovered
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums, so to speak. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "biliousness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "liver" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.—Advertisement.

Passes Win Car Lines' War Against Jitneys

A PRETTY YOUNGSTOWN STREET RAILWAY PASSENGER WITH HER PASS.

By NEA Service

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—Youngstown street car operators have found a way to beat the jitneys—but not until the jitney almost beat them.

You see the fare in Youngstown is 9 cents with 1 cent extra for a transfer.

Then the street railway company began selling passes. You pay $1.25 a week for one and you or any member of your family can ride as many times during the week as is necessary without paying a fare.

Since the pass or weekly ticket was introduced the street railway receipts have increased from $204,220 in three months to $358,733 in three months.

But this increase is partly due to improved industrial conditions in this steel and manufacturing center.

BONEHEAD CHAMP

THE Baluchistherium is now engaging the attention of scientists and funny writers. Both think it remarkable that his skull consisted almost entirely of bone. It was five feet long. Altogether, he must have been a whopper. To end the suspense, let it be said at once that the Baluchistherium was one of those prehistoric animals whose names no one can pronounce. It was two or three million years ago that the Baluchistherium flourished. His brain cavity—in a five-foot skull, remember—was not bigger than your hand. Why are there no live Baluchistherium today? It is because environment changed rapidly and greatly on the earth, and this progenitor of the man family couldn't shift gears in time. Many animals, including man, have changed their habits and appearance to suit nature. But an animal whose head was almost solid bone only had a thought at meal time. It sounds smart to say that men are the same as they always have been and that there's no hope for changing. But when somebody next says that, think of the Baluchistherium—the champion bonehead of all ages.

MAN AND MONKEY

AND again evolution is under fire, directed from the ramparts of self-called religious orthodoxy. The chief count against science for tracing man's origin back to monkeys or some other creature other than human is that it is inconsistent with the concept of the race as God-created. But to the unbiased student this view is unwarranted. God could fashion man by evolution through the ages and finally mold him in His image and be as much His Creator as though He had made him in a day by shaping clay with His hands. And man, so created, would be as much His child as though he had been builded in accord with biblical narrative, construed literally. All this pother over the evolutionary development of man jars on those who count truth as the sole test of the theory of creation. If science can prove that man is descended from some creature of the wilds, it must be accepted as consistent with true religion, for religion would not be worthy of consideration if it should cling to a theory that had been proved false. But the descent of man from monkey is not proved, nor is any theory of his descent. Hence the burden is jointly upon science and religion.

LITTLE IDEAS VALUABLE

INVENTORS and others who serve the race often die in poverty, their labor unrewarded. One reason, possibly, is the simplicity of ideas which are presented. Frequently when an originator has described his discovery, the comment is "Of course. Everyone knows that." Yet the idea may never have been put to practical use. An instance is indicated in the announcement that oil tanks to be constructed in the future will be tall and slender rather than short and broad. It has been found that there is a considerable loss by evaporation of oil stored in tanks. Of course, everyone knows that the amount of evaporation bears relationship to the area of exposed surface of a liquid, but no one thought to reduce the surface of stored oil until the man with the idea came along. Such ideas are the product of understanding. The person who made the first bottle, with a neck instead of an opening as large as the base, probably had the same idea as he who suggested building more slender oil tanks. It was the custom of iron makers for years to throw away the roll-scale from the mills, although it is pure oxide of iron, because no one had demonstrated that it could be thrown back into the furnace profitably. A single idea can stop a leak that months of economy and routine office efficiency cannot even find.

AMERICA'S NATIONAL PARKS

EVERY year about this time comes the report of the director of national parks, and it invariably records gratifying progress. The popularity of these great pleasure grounds has been wonderfully increased by the automobile. Last year of the more than 1,200,000 visitors 60 per cent. traveled in their own cars. Before the advent of the automobile and the improvement of the roads which it necessitated, there was some truth in the assertion that the parks were chiefly for a few who could afford to take the long journeys by railroad. But the past and other recent summers have witnessed hundreds of thousands of American families of moderate means traveling in their car and camping out both in the parks and along the way. Commenting on the fact that more than two-thirds of the total "camped out," the director of parks remarks that "it is obvious that the national parks are among the most popular institutions fostered by the government." It is just 50 years since the first national park not only in the United States but in the world, that in the Yellowstone district, was established. Since then seventeen others have been acquired. The Yellowstone attracted about 100,000 visitors during the past season, being exceeded in popularity only by the Rocky Mountain, Yosemite and Hot Springs, Ark. reservations. It is most fortunate that the government has been able to preserve these places of scenic beauty unspoiled by commercialism. In the truest sense these examples of nature's wonders belong to the people, and as time goes on they will more and more appreciate their advantages and avail themselves of them.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The human loss who have drifted helplessly to the depressing squalor of Avenue A rarely come back. It is the last stand of the beaten. There is small reward in hunting for bright spots among the wretchedly poor and yet.

"Chimp the Jew" runs a catch-all in one of the dingiest sections, a sort of combination junk and pawn shop. On Broadway he would be called a Shylock. He is squat with sharp eyes and curly hair, hawk nose and full lips.

He is a buffer between despair and hope for those who come to him to haggle over a tawdry pawn pledge. It takes genius to make money on Avenue A, but Chimp has prospered and is accordingly furiously hated.

The other day I dropped into Chimp's shop. He was at a counter repelling the advances of a shawled woman with a sick soul and a listless body for a loan. He was phlegmatic in his terseness. And finally she turned to leave.

At the door, Chimp called to her. "By God," he suddenly exclaimed, "I'll give you the money. Take this." He peeled off a five dollar bill and she snatched it at a drowning man would snatch at a straw. Then hurried out.

"I got to more out of this avenue," he told me excitedly. "They think I ain't got no heart. I'm the blood sucker, the damned Shylock—the dirty Mike. Come back here." He led me to a rear room. From a drawer he took out a soiled memorandum book and showed notations of expenditures. He is paying rent for three shut-ins. He has one woman and a boy at Saranac. He has never seen either.

Chimp was in a mood to bare his soul. "I dream all night long," he said, "terrible dreams. Hands are clutching at me and there are voices. Everybody hates me. They don't know I was left in a gutter on the Bowery when I was three years old. I was trained to be a pick-pocket and lived with thieves, but I'm trying to be somebody. But it can't be done."

And from his lips there poured forth the vilest epithets I have ever heard. In the morning paper I see that Chimp has closed his famous old shop. No one on Avenue A knows where he has gone.

It was the first appearance of a young married couple at the pretentious home where they had never before been invited and which meant a certain social prestige. The butler inquired their names, stepped to the door to announce them and the couple entered. After a few steps something happened and each sat down with a kerplunk. And the wife, according to a gossip weekly, is now in a sanitarium with nervous collapse.

One of Manhattan's most celebrated surgeons goes to a Fifth Avenue floral shop each morning, buys a red rose and carries it to the home of his lover.

Art's Latham, no Broadway heart, is coming back to New York shortly to open a cafeteria. The celebrated baseball hero has had the hat checking concession at a restaurant in London for several years, but long for old-time friends. Baseball heroes attract very little attention in the British metropolis. But to be the "Hope of one's side" at cricket, O, my word!

Doc Koko's KOLUM

The Baby
Little bit o' helpless babe with legs unused to walking.
Little bit o' babe with hands that not a task can do.
Little bit o' babbling babe, with tongue unschooled in talking.
God was wondrous generous to visit us with you!

God had seen the hunger that was gnawing at our hearts;
God had heard the prayers that in secret we had breathed;
God—himself—the fountain head whence all our loving starts—
Sent you from His spirit land in golden glory wreathed.

Ever since you came to us ourselves have been forgot;
Ever since you came to us we've thought of you alone;
Once our hearts were selfish—since you came to us they're not!
Precious bit o' baby God has let us call our own!

—Strickland Gillilan.

EVERETT TRUE BY CONDO

POLLY AND HER PALS

THAT GUILTIEST FEELING — BY BRIGGS

A Matter of Numbers

A Scotchman and a Jew in a hotel smoking-room drifted into an argument relative to those of their countrymen historically famous. There was a near-fistic encounter. It was agreed that when the Hebrew announced one of his race acclaimed as a celebrity he would pluck a hair from the head of his competitor, and vice versa. To the amazement of the Scotchman the Jew offered the name of "Solomon."

"Bobby Burns," was the proud response. "Abraham," reverently exclaimed the Jew. "Sir Walter Scott," rather contemptuously. "Joseph and his brethren," whereupon the Jew jerked numberless hairs from the head of the Scotchman.

"So you are naming them in battalions," and the Scotchman, winking his fingers in the whiskers of the Jew yanked out a handful, exclaiming: "The Highland Brigade."

GOOD MANNERS

In the city, formal calls are made between 4 and 6 in the afternoon; in the country, between 10:30 a. m. and 1 p. m. as well. Men may make formal calls, either in the city or country, between 8 and 9:30 p. m. Women rarely call in the evening, except informally upon close acquaintances, unless they are in business during the day.
